

Dataw Island Better Than Par

A scenic drive over Dataw Island's bridge and causeway often elicit a collective exhale of relaxation, with many members proclaiming "You had me at the bridge." Enter via the full-service marina and you are bound to feel the same magical allure of this special community, one of the region's best kept secrets.

While indeed the entrance is a charmer, lined with quintessential Southern moss-draped oaks and palm trees, it's truly just a hint of what you will find inside the gates of this private, gated community. The relaxed coastal lifestyle found in the South Carolina Lowcountry (the locals' term for the gorgeous coastal region) is exemplified at Dataw Island. Nature abounds, from frolicking dolphins to eagles and osprey, and history is honored at an on-site History & Learning Center, featuring items from 10,000 year-old relics to more modern island history.

Dataw Island is home to 36 holes of golf, by Tom Fazio and Arthur Hills – and both courses are distinguished with the rating of being in the “Top 50” in South Carolina, battling the courses in golf meccas Hilton Head and Myrtle Beach. Har-Tru tennis courts, pickleball, bocce, and even regulation-sized croquet lawns offer alternative sporting options.

This nearly 900-acre slice of island paradise is complemented by the smaller Oak Island. Preserved for perpetuity as a maritime nature preserve, Oak Island is an Old Growth Forest Network designee. In fact, the community itself is Audubon-sanctuary certified and participates in the Monarchs in the Rough conservation effort, in addition to numerous other conservation initiatives.

If the only driving you care to do is towards the green or towards the ocean blue, check out Dataw Island and find the life your soul has been seeking. (Located in Beaufort, SC – just minutes from the ICW, between Charleston & Hilton Head.)
